Newsletter #66 – Radio interview and news from the UK.

Welcome to our newsletter. Here is a link to previous newsletters.

Here is a link to an interview earlier this month on Green Planet FM. Don was interviewed by Lisa Err, who founded Lisa's Hummus and the interview goes for about 50 minutes.

There is a play button beside the graphic so set aside some time and have a listen.

Positive Money UK had a very good year with more appearances in the media than ever before, high-profile politicians acknowledging the UK's monetary policy is broken and more top economists backing their proposals for a fairer, more democratic and sustainable money system.

The case for money reform is coming out of the shadows and into the mainstream. Congratulations to the Positive Money UK team.

During December we posted:

- EU fines top banks \$800m for rate rigging, including HSBC and JP Morgan over their participation in a euro interest rate derivatives cartel.
- A 4 minute clip by Martin Wolf, Chief Economics Commentator of Financial Times, who clearly states, point by point, what is the problem with our current financial system and how we can fix it.
- BlackRock, the world's largest asset manager, is advocating quantitative easing to fund infrastructure projects.
- In late November 2016, 25 researchers from 12 countries met in The Hague, Netherlands, to discuss the priorities for research into sovereign money, and plan further research and collaboration.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year
